— Me, Myself and I

Digital native born in the 90's I used to enjoy my life in the numeric world when I was young as a gamer. I wanted to level up the experience a few years ago by learning a new face of the numeric world so I decided to join the Haute Ecole Albert Jacquard in Namur.

Learning Web in DWM for two years. Experiencing web through my own experiences, I like to discover, work and make plenty of different projects. I like to make projects which are focused on my user, that job is all about the human centered design and that is my way to design.
